~ Winter Collection 2024 ~

The Winter Collection 2024 shows our gallery artists to be intensely pre-occupied with capturing how they see New Zealand's enduring natural assets.

Typically, the gallery requests submissions from artists that follow a tightly worded brief. In this way the gallery is able to present deep reflective commentary while contributing to the inventory of New Zealand art history. However, in a collection such as this, each artist has the opportunity to bring together their own subject matter, media and genre. There is no overarching brief that binds together a broader social commentary or otherwise.

The binding element to the Winter Collection 2024 is the quality of the artistry that our patrons have enjoyed over the past five years since the gallery opened its doors. And we also get to see what the artists themselves are interested in painting. In this way the sum of these compositions is far greater than the individual parts. New artist to the gallery, Gaen adds to the exotic mix on display.

We are also pleased to be exhibiting paintings from Aston Greathead whose work is represented by the Fine Art Society of New Zealand.

This Collection also differs in that once a painting is sold it can be taken on the day of purchase to be replaced with another piece of art from the same artist. Over time, the exhibition will therefore be very much live and evolving.
